

TERRA FABULA RESOLUTION

You have watched over your land for many generations. You have seen the arrival of the People, the way they established a home here, and how they changed and shaped the land to their needs. You have seen the arrival of the Explorers and the Settlers, and the impact they have had... on the land, and on the People.

The story can take many different paths from here.

Which path do you want for your land?

PERHAPS...

...the surviving People continue to live amongst the Settlers.

Within a few generations they have taken on the ways of the Settlers and live as equals, having lost all but the memory of their past.

...the land rejects both the People and the Settlers through natural disasters, returning to a state of pristine, untouched nature.

...the People band together and resist the Settlers. Eventually, the Settlers succumb to their persistence and withdraw to other lands.

...the People and the Settlers negotiate a treaty of some kind, and find a way to balance their needs that both sides agree to.

...the Settlers make a concerted effort to eradicate the People until even their name is forgotten.

...something totally different and unexpected happens

Turn over the page and write a short narrative describing what happens in the land. Begin it with, "In the generations following the arrival of the Settlers..."
